FT. LIEUT. RAY GOERES
. . . RCAF's Red Knight

RCAF's Red Knight To Perform At Edmonton Exhibition On July 20

The RCAF's "Red Knight" and his scarlet T-33 jet plane will perform over the Edmonton Exhibition, as part of the grandstand show starting at 7:45 p.m. Thursday July 20th only.

The Red Knight is Flight Lieutenant R. J. 'Ray' Goeres, DFC, a pilot with 15 years service with the RCAF.

The Red Knight, who has thrilled crowds at airshows across Canada for the past two years, starts his air display with a vertical climbing roll to 5,000 feet. This is followed by a continuous performance of precision rolls and loops lasting 12 minutes.

A unique feature of the Red Knight's show is that all manoeuvres are performed within the confines of the Exhibition grounds—a task which calls for a high degree of skill in a high-speed aircraft.

FL Goeres of Stranrarer, Sask., is 39 years of age and is an instructor at the RCAF's Number 2 Advanced Flying School at Portage la Prairie, Man. He joined the RCAF in 1941 and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in August 1944 following a tour of operations with 101 (Bomber) Squadron of the RAF.

The Red Knight has scheduled air shows at Lloydminster July 24th and at Olds August 11.

The road to Lac La Biche has been in a deplorable condition during the past weeks. However, road crews are now starting to work on the highway, and before too long a real improvement will be seen. It is the Government's plan to rebuild the entire stretch of road, and it was only because of recent rains the work has been delayed.

312 Alberta Delegates Add Color To National SC Meet

The Social Credit Party of Canada held its Leadership Convention in Ottawa from Tuesday through Friday. A "pre-convention" rally was held in Edmonton to draw plans for the delegation from this district and from the province of Alberta. There were 312 delegates from Alberta adding to the total of 3,600 coming from all over Canada.

At the convention proper, the delegates discussed many subjects of national and local importance besides the major project of selecting a national leader from among the four proposed candidates. These were Robert N. Thompson of Red Deer, Alberta; George Hahn, of New Westminster, B.C.; Real Caouette, of Rouyn, Quebec, and B. A. Patterson of Fraser Valley, B.C. Two of the principal speakers at the meet were Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta and Premier W. A. Bennett of B.C.

One of the big features of the convention was the colorful presence of the Alberta delegates. Each wore a badge of the Alberta Rose emblem and the official Alberta Tartan. Delegates also wore a white Stetson hat, symbolic of Alberta, circled with a ribbon bearing the legend, "Social Credit, Alberta." Delegates driving their cars to Ottawa carried a huge cardboard rocket on the outside of the car with the wording "Social Credit On To Ottawa."

Executive members of the Alberta Social Credit League attended the convention headed by Orvis A. Kennedy, president of the league.

The National Leadership Convention of the Social Credit Party of Canada is also the "Founding" convention for two more Social Credit bodies. They are the "National Social Credit Women's Auxiliary" and the "Young Socreds of Canada." These bodies have been active on the west and are now being established on a national basis as support for the strong entry of Social Credit into federal political fields.

Graduate Compares School Years To Astronaut's 120 Minute Flight

LAC LA BICHE — "Although 12 years was a long time, however, at this stage it's like a dream and seems to be as rapid a progress as the Astronauts flight around the earth in 120 minutes." This was how Elaine Lobay described the school years of the Grade 12 class at their spring graduation ceremonies.

"We have the teachers to thank for making our landing successful, she said in her toast to the teachers. On behalf of her fellow students, she expressed gratitude to all the teachers who had so successfully piloted them through the first and most important phase in their lives.

"I know that we have caused many headaches and at times we may have seemed hopeless. But this is just the beginning of our future success and I hope that when we will have at last reached our goals in life, our teachers can say that we were worth the anxiety we caused them. Our attainment depends on what you have impressed upon us, and each one's success will be a tribute to you, our teachers."

During the evening's ceremonies, class histories were read for the "young astronauts."

Included were:

LOUISE BADRY

When the nurse brought Louise for her mother to see,
She looked, then exclaimed, "Oh, this just couldn't be!"
Good reason she had for exclaiming aloud,
For of what she beheld she could be well proud.
Tiny she was, and as cute as could be.
Her parents were as happy as happy could be.
From Vulcan they moved to our town by the lake.
Soon crayons and pencils to school she did take.
For twelve years she studied, doing the best that she could,
Passing all grades as we all knew she would.
A true little dancer in grade three she became,
From tapping to jigging, she nearly went lame.
A smart girl she is and an asset to the class
And comes time for exams we're sure that she'll pass.
And Louise don't worry about being small,
The world's famous people were not very tall.

NICK BURDEK

He came here from Grandin to take his grade four
But stayed for two months and not a day more.
Since good marks in nine he easily made,

Graduate Compares School Years . . .

He returned to our school to take the tenth grade.
He was doing so well he decided to stay,
And with us he is on this happy day.
He's not rowdy and loud like the rest of the boys
But he's usually the cause of most of the noise.
When the teachers are tricked and search the place
They by-pass Nick and his innocent face.
But tricked once more for they are unable to see,
That Nick is as guilty as guilty can be.
And though we are giving his secret to you,
He isnt too worried, for soon he'll be through.

HELEN CHOMIK

By Vimy in the school of Iron Creek
Helen first learned the art of being meek.
When to Lac La Biche she came to take her grade two
She never complained that there was too much to do.
Instead for groaning and moaning, she'd quickly settle down
Writing and working without making a sound.
And throughout these ten years she continues to be quiet
Proving that high marks can be made by the silent.
To become a nurse has been her constant goal
And we're sure she'll achieve success in this role.

MAE STEFANYK

In the year '49 down Normandeau way
Trudging slowly to school was our friend Mae.
She had pencils in her hand and books in a bag
But when she saw the school she ran to play tag.
T'was the first time her mother saw how she could run,
But Mae would do anything to have some fun.
She sailed through grades one and two,
Then decided to come here to a school quite new.
She quickly passed from grade to grade,
And soon her abilities to run did fade.
Instead of fooling around each day,
She decided that study was better than play.
She's one of the few girls who did excel,
In Mathematics, this we know well.
And her standings in others are also very high
We're hoping that she'll do well when June comes by.

CAROLE PALYLYK

The year of 59 was a great one indeed
When Carole came here for the learning she'd need
She soon became active in planning our schemes
For Carole had a clever mind for mischief it seems.
Strolling down the hallway with her nose in the book.
She runs to the classroom to take an extra look.
Then she whispers, "Oh Golly," when she hears the bell,
And she starts to write a paper in which she thinks she's doing well
Soon she pulls her glasses to the bridge of her nose,
And closes her eyes as her marks she shows,
Then she looks at her friends and whistles and blows,
"How I'm going to pass this grade heaven only knows."
But actually she shouldn't worry as we're not afraid.
Cause when June comes she'll probably have it made.
We know that following graduation this May,
Carole will be studying day afterday.

DANNY RAYMENT

From Hylo Dan came to take grade ten
And he has been with us ever since then.
He started that year at the top of the class
But all of a sudden he doubts if he'll pass.
Not because he's stupid and not that he's a fool
But he finds that he's missed too many days of school.
And now he feels that this really did not pay.
Each day he now comes and questions each thought
As the teachers explain the lectures he heard not
But now in twelve, with one month to go,
He wants to pass his grade we all know.
So right after graduation Danny we'll see
Seated each day as studying he'll be.
And may we say to you this night,
We feel in exams you'll do all right.
But don't forget to study every minute each day,
And for goodness' sakes don't you dare stay away;
Cause now as you know there is one month alone,
And to pass with a 70 you'll have to work to the one.

POINTERS FOR OUTDOOR CHEF

Barbecued chicken and frying chicken are being featured at meat counters now. They are a tasty main dish for your outdoor meal.

B. McCutcheon

1. Cooking on an outdoor grill should be done over hot embers, not flaming coals or wood. Flames char food before it is cooked.

2. Grease the grill before using to prevent food sticking.

3. Turn halves or pieces of chicken frequently and baste with melted fat or barbecue sauce.

4. Barbecue sauces containing much sugar or ketchup cause chicken to brown rapidly and tend to scorch so should not be used until the last half hour of cooking period. Use butter, oil or a French or Italian type of liquid dressing.

5. Use tongs rather than fork to turn chicken to avoid piercing meat.

6. Paprika used liberally as a sprinkling on chicken aids browning.

7. For additional flavor, marinate chicken for 30 minutes or longer in refrigerator using a barbecue sauce, French or Italian dressing as the marinade.

8. Allow plenty of time to cook chicken thoroughly, usually 1 to 1¼ hours for average sized birds.

9. Chicken is done when leg bone twists easily in meat, or hip socket is easily disjointed or meat is fork tender. Avoid puncturing meat frequntly since it causes loss of juice.

10. When using a revolving spit follow manufacturer's directions for trussing and placing chickens on spit so they are evenly balanced. Brush frequently with barbecue sauce. Cooking time for whole birds on revolving spit is approximately the same as roasting in an oven.

BASTING SAUCE OR MARINADE FOR CHICKEN

½ cup salad oil
½ cup wine vinegar
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup soy sauce
½ tsp. monosodium glutamate.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR THE LAST HOUR

¼ cup water
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ lb. butter or margarine
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon crushed onion flakes
1 teaspoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
⅛ cup Worcestershire sauce
⅛ cup ketchup
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Mix mustard and water; allow to stand 10 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients, add mustard mixture. Simmer 20 minutes. Yield two cups. This may also be served with the chicken.

Ask for our bulletin, "Outdoor Cookery", or if you require further information about barbecue meals write, phone or call at my office.

NOTICE TO RATEPAYERS OF THE COUNTY OF ATHABASCA No. 12

Re: Prairie Farm Assistance

The office of the Prairie Farm Assistance has been receiving a number of requests from municipal and county officials and from farmers for directions as to the correct procedure in cases where the farmer decides to plow down acreages of seeded grain.

It would be of great assistance to the staff and would assist to speed up inspection work, if the farmer would list with the municipal secretary-treasurer the quarter section concerned, the acreage and type of grain plowed under. It would also be helpful if the farmer could leave a few feet of crop standing at the end of the field so that PFA Field Inspectors could identify the acreage in their reports.

WHAT A GREAT DAY!

Secretary, B.C. and Alberta Lord's Day Alliance of Canada
REV. H. T. ALLEN, B.A., B D.

No Society can thrive without laws, and that society thrives best whose laws are designed to bring it to its best, and whose people strive to make them effective. Laws can serve a high purpose in promoting social well-being, and they will be welcomed by all who have a nation's or a world's real interests at heart.

Laws help us to keep in step with one another. They can mean the difference between life and death. "Drive to the right" traffic laws restrict us from driving any way we like, anytime we like. But these restrictions give us life and freedom. Being in our own lane when we topped the hill kept us from many a crash! We owe our life to keeping such laws

Laws are helpful on life's highway. We can't employ women in coal mines. We can't hire boys and girls under minimum age. These are proper restrictions, now accepted. Yet once there was strong objection to them.

It is by law that our rights to a Sunday free from work and business are protected. The Lord's Day Act provides the legal backing to our need. It is there to see that we are not deprived of our right in a public day of rest and worship. It is the only law in Canada which does this, on a national basis.

The increasing shortage, day by day, in our needed rest, requires that we have a compensating day along the line, and the seventh day best meets our need. Poisons from the breakdown of the body cells are cleared away at a rate that requires a seventh day rest to maintain our energies at the proper level. So the rest of the seventh day is a life-giver. More can be done in a regular six-day period with a day of rest, than can be done in seven days without it. Sunday observance means higher efficiency.

So we did not have to wait for leisure time, and surplus wealth before we could begin cultural advances in human civilization. Since "the soul of culture is the culture of the soul," the beginnings of a day of rest and worship help tremendous opportunities which we could not have had otherwise. We have only begun to use them in our world When we really do, we shall move our whole civilization forward.

These possibilities lie in the Lord's Day as the greatest day of the week, because it:

1. Regularly celebrates the victory of Christ over sin and death on behalf of all mankind in a weekly day of observance based on the Resurrection and its meaning.

2. Declares that man belongs to God alone, and not to any sectional interest, neither self, nor industry nor government, and is not to be a pawn nor a tool in anyone's game.

3. Proclaims God's high destiny for man, in Christ — that He will go, and has indeed gone, through any bitterness to challenge our evil and sin, so that man's life will not be wrecked, if we co-operate.

4. Gives us a chance, and time, to share in the joy of working with others for these things, and centres them for us for all our life.

5. It stands for the relationship to God which makes man, man: the citizen of eternity.

6. It stands for the Lordship of Christ, and not of the devil, in man's life: The Prince of Peace, whose rule will end our strife.

The Day of Resurrection: What a Great Day — the greatest in man's history! The Lord's Day perpetuates it.

T. Foster Re-Elected FUA Director At District Meet

The 1961 annual District No. 3 convention in the Community Hall at Rochester on Saturday, June 24, saw T. Foster, Dapp re-elected as District Director. There was a good attendance from the Women's and the Juniors' Section and from the Cariboo Range (Rochester) Local; but the attendance from the FUA locals was rather disappointing. The total attendance was around 95 delegates, officials, speakers and visitors.

Invocation was given by Rev. Anderson of Rochester and Mr. Aloisio gave the address of welcome on behalf of the County of Athabasca.

Reports of the year's activities and the financial report were given by the various executive Board members and fraternal greetings by W. Scarth and E. Ness of the UGG and the Alberta Wheat Pool respectively.

The contest for the best local's report of the years activities was won by the Freedom-Naples FWUA for the second year in succession. Cariboo Range Jr. Local was second and the Freedom FUA Local was third. The trophy was presented by Mrs. H. James on behalf of the District to Mrs. Moltzan, the Freedom-Naples FWUA President, who gave the winning report.

Gerald Schuler, 1st vice-president of the Jr. FUA, spoke on Farm Young Peoples Week, the Jr. Queen contest, the Jr. debates finales at FYPW and the "Gold Eye Lake" Camp. The construction of the various buildings at the Camp, he stated, is progressing rather slow, due to lack of finances and volunteer labor. Some 30,000 dollars are still needed to complete the project.

Mrs. F. A. Sissons, FWUA 1st Vice President, in her address, stressed the importance of promotion of Jr. activities in our organization. She also gave a brief outline of the various projects the Alberta Farm Women are sponsoring at present and the many problems in rural life in which they are taking an active interest.

Mrs. Sissons introduced a young girl from New Zealand, Miss H. Harrison, who at present is making a study tour of Canada. Miss Harrison gave a very descriptive and entertaining comparison between life on an average cattle or sheep station in her home land and her impression of rural life in Canada. She stated that no color bar or racial problem existed in New Zealand between the white population and the minority Polynesian groups. Miss Harrison has travelled through Europe, England and Canada for the past 2½ years and has supported herself by doing part time work. She returns to her home via B.C. at the end of July.

Mr. Ed Nelson, FUA President, addressing the convention, spoke about the new political party in Canada. He stated that, although the Union is non-political, it is in the interest of all it's members to be well informed about the platforms of the various political parties. He also delt with the controversy between the Federal Government and Mr. Coyne, Governor of the Bank of Canada. Other subjects he briefly spoke on were: The American Farm Movement; The Royal Commission on Transportation; The FUA Services to it's Members; The Hutterite Problem; The International Trade Situation and a Summary of Farm Co-ops.

Some 14 resolutions were presented, 11 were passed, 2 were lost and 1 failed to obtain sponsors.

The delegates decided to hold the 1962 District Convention at Hazel-Bluff. They also agreed that a district dinner should be held next fall, subject to certain conditions, the District Board to decide time and place.

Re-elected were: T. Foster, Dapp, FUA Director. Mrs. H. James, Eastburg, FWUA Director and Mrs. T. Preuss, Freedom, Alternate FWUA Director. New elected: R. Preuss, Freedom, Alternate FUA Director; Wade Hanlan, Rochester, Jr. Director and Stanley Chileen, Picardville, Alternate Jr. Director.

The Rochester ladies served a much appreciated buffet-style lunch and were given a hearty vote of thanks for their efforts.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?

When parents are able to answer the children's questions it's a sign that the kids are growing up.

CGE Hits Back At Jap Tree Light Market, Lower Prices

Canadian General Electric announced today it had solved the problem of Japanese price competition in the Christmas decorative light market. Meeting with dealers and distributors here this week, CGE executives described how completely new production, packaging, distribution and marketing techniques had resulted in prices equal to, or even lower than Japanese import prices.

The Japanese have had the lion's share of the Canadian Christmas light market for several years, a company spokesman explained. Christmas lights, both indoor and outdoor, had been manufactured by CGE and other firms for distribution organizations that sold them under their own trade names. But the production of Canadian-made Christmas lights virtually disappeared when the private brand organizations began purchasing large quantities of Japanese Christmas lights. As a result, many Canadians lost their jobs. "We had to develop a completely new approach, or go out of business entirely in these lines," he said.

"Even so, we did not feel that the problem was sufficiently important to the national interest to justify asking the government for help. So we decided to face the challenge the best way we know how—by using the knowledge, ingenuity and determination of our people to succeed."

He said planning began two years ago, resulting in new production equipment that turns out lamps in quantities that bring the price down. Then new packaging, merchandising and marketing techniques were developed that meant additional savings all down the line. "We have maintained our highest quality standards of safety and performance while keeping Canadians working, but the real benefit is to the consumer, who receives a wider choice of colours and designs, while paying less than ever."

CGE launched the offensive convinced that Canadians will prefer a Canadian-made product that is not only competitive in price but also top quality and safe to use, he said. "We have put a lot of people to work on this project and they are now turning out some 18,000,000 Christmas lights for the coming season. Many of these will be of completely new design and colour," he said.

Commissions are not paid on arguments won, but on sales made.
